THE DARKNESS OF THE SEA: 20+ Horror Stories, Supernatural Tales & Fantastical Adventures William Hope Hodgson, 2024-01-17 In The Darkness of the Sea: 20+ Horror Stories, Supernatural Tales & Fantastical Adventures, William Hope Hodgson manifests his profound fascination with the eerie and the uncanny through a collection of diverse narratives that traverse the boundaries of reality and imagination. This compendium features Hodgson's hallmark blend of gothic horror and cosmic dread, employing a vivid, atmospheric prose style that immerses readers in maritime terror and supernatural phenomena. Each tale is meticulously crafted, reflecting the early 20th-century literary context that fused existential contemplation with an exploration of humanity's relationship to the unknown depths of the sea and the universe beyond. William Hope Hodgson, an influential figure in the horror genre, drew upon his own experiences at sea, serving as a sailor and later as a writer whose life was marked by tragedy and a profound connection with the natural world. His unique perspective is evident in his exploration of liminal spaces, drawing readers into realms where the familiar is rendered disquieting. Hodgson's body of work reflects a deep engagement with themes of isolation, fear, and the supernatural, making him a pivotal precursor to later writers such as H.P. Lovecraft. This collection is highly recommended for readers who appreciate the fusion of horror and fantasy, as well as those drawn to literary traditions that probe the depths of human experience. Hodgson's masterful storytelling and rich imagery provide a haunting journey into the unknown, appealing to both fans of classical horror and contemporary fantasy alike.

The Last Ocean Nicci Gerrard, 2020-08-11 From the award-winning journalist and author, a lyrical, raw and humane investigation of dementia that explores both the journeys of the people who live with the condition and those of their loved ones. After a diagnosis of dementia, Nicci Gerrard's father, John, continued to live life on his own terms, alongside the disease. But when an isolating hospital stay precipitated a dramatic turn for the worse, Gerrard, an award-winning journalist and author, recognized that it was not just the disease, but misguided protocol and harmful practices that cause such pain at the end of life. Gerrard was inspired to seek a better course for all who suffer because of the disease. The Last Ocean is Gerrard's investigation into what dementia does to both the person who lives with the condition and to their caregivers. Dementia is now one of the leading causes of death in the West, and this necessary book will offer both comfort and a map to those walking through it. While she begins with her father's long slip into forgetting, Gerrard expands to examine dementia writ large. Gerrard gives raw but literary shape both to the unimaginable loss of one's own faculties, as well as to the pain of their loved ones. Her lens is unflinching, but Gerrard honors her subjects and finds the beauty and the humanity in their seemingly diminished states. In so doing, she examines the philosophy of what it means to have a self, as well as how we can offer dignity and peace to those who suffer with this terrible disease. Not only will it aid those walking with dementia patients, The Last Ocean will prompt all of us to think on the nature of a life well lived.

Nine Horrors and a Dream Joseph Payne Brennan, 2019-06-12 Acclaimed by Stephen King as a master of the unashamed horror tale, Joseph Payne Brennan wrote hundreds of tales of terror, suspense, and fantasy. Collectors and fans will delight in this inexpensive reissue of Brennan's hard-to-find classic, Nine Horrors and a Dream. This collection, originally published by Arkham House in 1958, features stories published by Weird Tales and other pulp magazines of the 1950s — including the much-anthologized Slime, which inspired the ever-popular thriller The Blob. Less familiar but equally gripping tales include Levitation, in which a carnival-goer has an unfortunate encounter with a hypnotist; The Calamander Chest, the story of a low-priced antique that turns out to be no bargain; Death in Peru, involving a lethal curse; the darkly humorous On the Elevator; and The Green Parrot, which recounts a Good Samaritan's bad timing. Other selections include Canavan's Back Yard, featuring a property with a gruesome history; I'm Murdering Mr. Massington, which tells of a bizarre grasp at immortality; The Hunt, a playfully creepy yarn about an obsessive chase; and The Mail for Juniper Hill, in which a tipsy but determined postman refuses to let anything — even death — keep him from his appointed rounds.

An Ocean of Wonder ku'ualoha ho'omanawanui, Joyce Pualani Warren, Cristina Bacchilega, 2024-04-30 An Ocean of Wonder: The Fantastic in the Pacific brings together fifty writers and artists from across Moananuiākea working in myriad genres across media, ranging from oral narratives and traditional wonder tales to creative writing as well as visual artwork and scholarly essays. Collectively, this anthology features the fantastic as present-day Indigenous Pacific world-building that looks to the past in creating alternative futures, and in so doing reimagines relationships between peoples, environments, deities, nonhuman relatives, history, dreams, and storytelling. Wonder is activated by curiosity, humility in the face of mystery, and engagement with possibilities. We see wonder and the fantastic as general modes of expression that are not confined to realism. As such, the fantastic encompasses fantasy, science fiction, magic realism, fabulation, horror, fairy tale, utopia, dystopia, and speculative fiction. We include Black, feminist, and queer futurisms, Indigenous wonderworks, Hawaiian mo'olelo kamaha'o and mo'olelo āiawaiwa, Sāmoan fāgogo, and other non-mimetic genres from specific cultures, because we recognize that their refusal to adopt restrictive Euro-American definitions of reality is what inspires and enables the fantastic to flourish. As artistic, intellectual, and culturally based expressions that encode and embody Indigenous knowledge, the multimodal mo'olelo in this collection upend monolithic, often exoticizing, and demeaning stereotypes of the Pacific and situate themselves in conversation with critical understandings of the global fantastic, Indigenous futurities, social justice, and decolonial and activist storytelling. In this collection, Oceanic ideas and images surround and connect to Hawai'i, which is for the three coeditors, a piko (center); at the same time, navigating both juxtaposition and association, the collection seeks to articulate pilina (relationships) across genres, locations, time, and media and to celebrate the multiplicity and relationality of the fantastic in Oceania.

In The Devil and the Deep, award-winning editor Ellen Datlow shares an all-original anthology of horror that covers the depths of the deep blue sea, with brand new stories from New York Times bestsellers and award-winning authors such as Seanan McGuire, Christopher Golden, Stephen Graham Jones, and more.

Global Indigenous Horror Naomi Simone Borwein, 2025-04-15 Contributions by Katrin Althans, Jayson Althofer, Naomi Simone Borwein, Persephone Braham, Krista Collier-Jarvis, Shane Hawk, Jade Jenkinson, June Scudeler, and Sabrina Zacharias Global Indigenous Horror is a collection of essays that positions Indigenous Horror as more than just a genre, but as a narrative space where the spectral and social converge, where the uncanny becomes a critique, and the monstrous mirrors the human. While contentions swirl around the genre category, this exploratory anthology is the first critical edited collection dedicated solely to ways of theorizing and analyzing Indigenous Horror literature. The essays, curated by scholar Naomi Simone Borwein, ask readers to consider what Global Indigenous Horror is—and to whom. The volume opens with a preface by international bestselling horror writer Shane Hawk (enrolled Cheyenne-Arapaho, Hidatsa, and Potawatomi descent), followed by an overview of Global Indigenous Horror trends, aesthetics, and approaches. The carefully selected contributions explore Indigenous Horror literature and mixed-media narratives worldwide, unraveling the intricate dynamics between the local and global, traditional and contemporary, and human and monstrous. Contributor chapters are grouped not by geographical or cultural variation, but along a spectrum, from a strong emphasis on ways of knowing to a critical inspection of Horror through Indigenous Gothic aesthetics across cultural boundaries and against and beyond nation states.

The Classic Horror Stories H. P. Lovecraft, 2013-05-09 'Loathsomeness waits and dreams in the deep, and decay spreads over the tottering cities of men. A time will come - but I must not and cannot think!' H. P. Lovecraft (1890-1937) was a reclusive scribbler of horror stories for the American pulp magazines that specialized in Gothic and science fiction in the interwar years. He often published in Weird Tales and has since become the key figure in the slippery genre of 'weird fiction'.

Lovecraft developed an extraordinary vision of feeble men driven to the edge of sanity by glimpses of malign beings that have survived from human prehistory or by malevolent extra-terrestrial visitations. The ornate language of his stories builds towards grotesque moments of revelation, quite unlike any other writer. This new selection brings together nine of his classic tales, focusing on the 'Cthulhu Mythos', a cycle of stories that develops the mythology of the Old Ones, the monstrous creatures who predate human life on earth. It includes the Introduction from Lovecraft's critical essay, 'Supernatural Horror in Literature', in which he gave his own important definition of 'weird fiction'. In a fascinating contextual introduction, Roger Luckhurst gives Lovecraft the attention he deserves as a writer who used pulp fiction to explore a remarkable philosophy that shockingly dethrones the mastery of man.

The Synthetic Ones Lionel Roberts, Lionel Fanthorpe, Patricia Fanthorpe, 2014-08-28 Is there a Destiny? Does Fate impose a limit? What Barrier stands between man and the creation of life? Since the legendary failure of the ill-fated Frankenstein, man has tried time and time again to pass those limits. He has created androids, clumsy robots of flesh and blood. He has made men of metal and servants of plastic, with wheels for limbs and magnetic tapes for voices. Man has made things by cross breeding the animal kingdom and destroying Nature's intentions...but man has never yet made man. Or has he? Forbisher thought that he had the answer. It wasn't a clumsy Synthetic. It wasn't an Android, or a Robot, it was a real flesh and blood human being. The beautiful woman in his arms was the product of a laboratory experiment, not the result of a natural biological process. But how could he prove it?

Deep Sea Exploration Yves Earhart, AI, 2025-01-02 Deep Sea Exploration takes readers on a comprehensive journey into Earth's last unexplored frontier, where crushing pressures and perpetual darkness create extraordinary environments for life. This meticulously researched work combines historical perspective with cutting-edge research to illuminate our understanding of the ocean's deepest regions, from the first bathyscaphe expeditions to modern ROV missions. The book systematically explores three interconnected aspects of deep-sea research: the extreme physical conditions that shape these environments, the remarkably adapted ecosystems that flourish in darkness, and the technological innovations that enable scientists to study these remote areas. Through clear, accessible language and compelling case studies, readers learn how deep-sea processes influence global climate patterns and how these mysterious ecosystems contribute to Earth's biological and chemical cycles. The text particularly excels in explaining complex oceanographic concepts through real-world examples and researcher profiles. Progressing from physical oceanography through biological systems to human interactions, the book addresses crucial contemporary issues including deep-sea mining, climate change impacts, and ocean conservation. It uniquely bridges multiple scientific disciplines, demonstrating how deep-sea exploration drives innovation across fields while highlighting the critical balance between scientific discovery and environmental protection. This approach makes it an invaluable resource for both marine science students and environmentally conscious readers seeking to understand the importance of our ocean's deepest reaches.

Ecology of the Zombie Kerstin Oloff, 2023-07-15 Ecology of the Zombie marks a significant intervention into the fields of world literature, film studies, ecocriticism, and Gothic Studies. Arguing that the zombie is a fundamentally ecological figure, the book offers original readings of a range of cultural texts from across the Caribbean and the U.S. In its various incarnations - from enslaved body toiling on fields, to vacant-eyed, light-skinned female imprisoned within patriarchal structures, to the cannibalistic mass zombie roaming apocalyptic scenarios - the zombie speaks powerfully to capitalism's systematic degradation of land and labour. Indeed, the figure gives expression to the metabolic rifts through which the modern world-system has unfolded. Boldly intervening in current debates around Gothic imaginaries, Ecology of the Zombie argues for the centrality of the Caribbean monstrous to understanding Gothic ecologies due to the region's pivotal role in the emergence of capitalist modernity. The book is distinguished by its striking comparative analyses, bringing the work of René Depestre, for example, into conversation with that of Ralph Ellison, reading Erna Brodber's Myal in conjunction with George Romero's Dawn of the Dead, and examining The Stepford Wives alongside the fiction of Pedro Cabiya. In so doing, it provides an important new interpretation of the cultural history of the zombie.
