State of Disorder Douglas Smith,2016-11 Aurora Award Finalist When James Mackaby, respected scholar, husband and father, accepts a dinner invitation from an old rival who has fallen on hard times, he has no idea that revenge is on the menu. During this singular evening, three very separate and very different dinners will take place, all at the same time, all in the same place, all with the same guests. And by the end of the last course, no one's life will ever be the same again. Another standout is the masterful State of Disorder, which contemplates the flexibility and fluidity of time. —Ideomancer Magazine A neat twist on time travel and quantum physics. —Publishers Weekly The claustrophobic atmosphere of this tale heightens its devilish suspense and draws favorable comparisons to Poe's tales of trapped, desperate protagonists. —Tangent Online A chilling story of three dinners in the same place and time, and a very satisfying ending made this another A++ story [in Chimerascope]. —Fantasy Book Critic A stunning piece of work. —Kim Mohan, editor, Amazing Stories

Edgar Allan Poe Brett Zimmerman,2005 Critics have often charged Edgar Allan Poe with sloppy writing. Using stylistics and classical rhetorical theory, Brett Zimmerman demonstrates that Poe was in fact a brilliant and deliberate lexical technician who varied his prose style according to genre and the world views and the mental health or illness of his narrators. Zimmerman breaks new ground in Poe studies by providing a catalogue of three hundred figures of speech and thought in the author's oeuvre, including his tales, personal correspondence, literary criticism, book reviews, and Marginalia. This incisive catalogue of literary and rhetorical terms, presented in alphabetical order and amply illustrated with examples - in addition to close examinations of some of Poe's most important tales - overwhelmingly demonstrates Poe's rhetorical and linguistic dexterity putting a nearly two-hundred-year-old critical debate to rest by showing Poe to be a conscientious craftsman of the highest order.
