Tone - Definition and Examples | LitCharts What's the Function of Tone in Literature? First and foremost, tone clues readers into the essence and the purpose of what they're reading. It wouldn't make sense to use a wordy, poetic tone to write a simple set of directions, just like it wouldn't make sense to use a dry, unfeeling tone when writing a love poem. Literary Devices and Terms - Definitions and Examples | LitCharts Literary devices and terms are the techniques and elements—from figures of speech to narrative devices to poetic meters—that writers use to create narrative literature, poetry, speeches, or any other form of writing. Characterization - Definition and Examples | LitCharts The characters of nearly every story—whether in literature, film, or any other narrative—have some characterization. Here are some examples of different types of characterization. LitCharts | From the creators of SparkNotes, something better. Our approach makes literature accessible to everyone, from students at every level to teachers and book club readers. Mood - Definition and Examples | LitCharts The following examples of mood are from different types of literature: plays, novels, and poems. In each, we identify how the author builds the mood of the work using a combination of setting, imagery, tone, diction, and plot. Point of View - Definition and Examples | LitCharts What's the Function of Point of View in Literature? Point of view is the means by which an author relays either one or a multiplicity of perspectives about the events of their story. Satire - Definition and Examples | LitCharts There are many novels, plays, and other works of literature that fall into the genre of satire. These works are all characterized by their consistent and sustained satirical attacks on their various targets. Allusion - Definition and Examples | LitCharts Because most writers are active readers, many works of literature are full of allusions to other texts. Allusions to current events and major political developments are also quite common in poetry, prose, and drama. External Conflict - Definition and Examples | LitCharts What's the Function of External Conflict in Literature? Without a problem or conflict, most stories wouldn't go anywhere: the protagonist would stay at home, or perhaps they would achieve their goals without any of the challenges or struggles that make a good story interesting to read. Theme - Definition and Examples | LitCharts In our LitCharts literature study guides, we usually identify themes in headings as thematic concepts, and then explain the theme more fully in a few paragraphs.
