application of controlled potential coulometry is determining the number of electrons involved in a redox reaction to make the determination we complete a controlled potential coulometric analysis using a known amount of a pure compound web there are two forms of coulometry controlled potential coulometry in which we apply a constant potential to the electrochemical cell and controlled current coulometry in which we pass a constant current through the electrochemical cell under dynamic methods current passes through the cell coulometry an electrochemical method based on the measurement of the quantity of electricity in coulombs needed to convert the analyte quantitatively to a different oxidation state
