The Keeper of Happy Endings Barbara Davis, 2021-10 An enchanting novel about fate, second chances, and hope, lost and found, by the Amazon Charts bestselling author of The Last of the Moon Girls. Soline Roussel is well schooled in the business of happy endings. For generations her family has kept an exclusive bridal salon in Paris, where magic is worked with needles and thread. It's said that the bride who wears a Roussel gown is guaranteed a lifetime of joy. But devastating losses during World War II leave Soline's world and heart in ruins and her faith in love shaken. She boxes up her memories, stowing them away, along with her broken dreams, determined to forget. Decades later, while coping with her own tragic loss, aspiring gallery owner Rory Grant leases Soline's old property and discovers a box containing letters and a vintage wedding dress, never worn. When Rory returns the mementos, an unlikely friendship develops, and eerie parallels in Rory's and Soline's lives begin to surface. It's clear that they were destined to meet—and that Rory may hold the key to righting a forty-year wrong and opening the door to shared healing and, perhaps, a little magic.

Maritime Time Capsules Oliver Scott, AI, 2025-02-20 Maritime Time Capsules explores the captivating world of abandoned lighthouses, examining them as unique time capsules that offer invaluable insights into maritime history and a vanishing way of life. More than just navigational aids, these structures represent self-contained communities, each with compelling stories etched into their architecture and the lives of their keepers. The book delves into the evolution of lighthouse technology, from simple signal fires to sophisticated Fresnel lens systems, and highlights the social dynamics of the isolated individuals and families who once inhabited these remote outposts. The book unfolds across three main sections, beginning with an exploration of lighthouse architecture and engineering, detailing construction techniques and technological advancements. It then shifts its focus to the human element, painting a vivid picture of the lives of lighthouse keepers through diaries, letters, and oral histories. Finally, Maritime Time Capsules addresses the present-day challenges these structures face, such as coastal erosion and climate change, ultimately proposing strategies for their preservation through community involvement and sustainable tourism. By combining historical research, on-site analysis, and personal narratives, the book offers a fresh perspective on maritime heritage. The examination of these abandoned lighthouses connects architectural history, environmental studies, and maritime sociology, providing critical lessons about our relationship with the sea and the importance of preserving our maritime heritage for future generations.

She is confronted with people from drug dealers to escaped convicts to beggars, with the black of night as she huddles up against her car seat in abandoned campgrounds, with countless jobs working with the elder, the mentally ill, animals, and cancer patients.
